Parish Registers.

The marriage of Patricia May Greenaway of Pendrift to Keith Christopher Lovering H.M.F. at Blisland Parish Church on Saturday 15th August.

FROM THE PARISH PRIEST

My dear Parishioners of Blisland, St Breward & Temple,

I write this pastoral letter on my return from my annual three week's absence from my parishes. This year I went first to the Diocese of Rochester to conduct a Retreat for Beginners at Stacklands. Then I spent a couple of days in London before returning to Stacklands for a Conference at which priests from all over the country assembled to share their thoughts about conducting Retreats and about the training of priests and lay-people for this important work in the life of the Church. The day after the Conference ended there was a great open air Eucharist in the grounds of Stacklands at which sevenpriests celebrated. This was a great priviledge particularly for those priests who live and work in remote parts of the country.

Then I went to stay with a priest and his family in East Anglia. A priest has a duty to recite Mattins and Evensong every day. It was a great joy to alternate celebrating the Eucharist with him in one of his churches and to say Evensong together. One day I particularly remember. There was a family excursion to Hunstanton, a popular seaside resort and after lunch we all went on a pilgrimage to Walsingham. The shrine of Our Lady of Walsingham attracts a very great number of pilgrims. Within the shrine church is the Holy House of Nazareth ablaze with light from hundreds of votive lights maintained by hundreds of parishes throughout the land. Holy Water from theHoly Well within the shrine is drunk by the pilgrims and bottles of it can be brought home. Walsingham is not only a place of prayer but also a place of healing and a place in which prayers are offered for those who are sick in body, mind and soul.

When I made my pilgrimage to Walsingham I was able to pray for my sick parishioners in the same way that they are remembered at the Eucharist in my parishes and during the daily offices of Mattins and Evensong.

The purpose of this month's letter to my parishioners is not simply to let them know how I have spent my annual leave of absence but, more importantly, to assure them of my prayers wherever I chance to be.. I remember and old Cowley Father saying that 'Prayer is the Christian's an old Cowley Father saying that 'Prayer is the Christian's native air' and it is the priest's praying for his people and his people praying for him that helps him and them to advance together in spiritual life.

Our joint prayer life must reach out in an ever widening circle. We must pray not only for those within the fold of the Church but also for those without the fold. We must pray not only for the local community in which we live but also for those who need our prayers throughout our country and the whole world. Through the media of press, radio and television we learn of the needs of others - the sick and suffering, the homeless and undernourished, the lonely and the unloved, the victims of persecution and warfare.

If we think of how we spend each day of our lives we might consider not only how much time we spend in our daily round of common tasks, in sleeping and eating, in relaxing and entertainment but also how much time we spend in prayer. Prayer links us with the Blessed Trinity and the Angels and Saints in Heaven, with the souls of the departed in Paradise and with allGod's creatures on earth. It is indeed the Christian's native air.

God bless you and all whom you love,

EDWIN STARK.

IMTRAN APPEAL

Just recently the Bodmin Broadsheet has been reporting the progress of the Imtran Appeal. Knowing nothing about it I read the pieces thoroughly and sent a cheque off at once. Any piece of technology that can save time, travel & trouble must be worthwhile. This particular machine projects Xrays from E.C.Hospital to Truro for diagnosis and the patient stays in Bodmin. Anything that saves a 60 mile trip must be worthwhile.

The cost is in the region of £4,000 and the last figure raised was about 50%. Peter Ames in Turf St is the local organiser and will be delighted to receive your donations.

Having gone through the CT Scan and been diagnosed with speed I'm all for new gadgets that save time and effort. So good luck to East Cornwall in this venture. SMV

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR.

Dear Readers,

This edition is a joint effort between the old and the new, October's will be in the hands of the new. Mrs Catherine McShee of Homelands, Higher Lank, St Breward, has agreed to take over. She is a young Mum with two children at St Breward School. Her husband Paddy has been active in local and Lion events in the past and is encouraging Catherine in this venture.

We were discussing what further lines the magazine could follow and one suggestion was gardening - so have we anyone who could give a few articles - or monthly tips on gardening? it doesn't have to be a lot.

Having someone younger and from St Breward will be a change, never-the-less she will still need your support; as I've said before, the magazine is only as good as it's contributors, the editor may fall in when necessary but the mainstays are YOU.

My sincere thanks for having me since July 1982 and supporting the magazine. I've really enjoyed every minute of it - warts and all!! You've given me the opportunity to keep my mind busy and scheming in retirement, I'd have hated to vegetate.

One must in truth say that there were moments when things didn't go according to plan & one wondered just why one put oneself on the chopping block, but they passed and the next edition was out - all a bit like child birth, once it's over you forget the pain and trauma and just pleased to see the child alive and well.

Thankyou for all your supportive articles, it's been a further education which is no bad thing. Now perhaps I can join the backroom crowd and potter around finding things for the new editor.

For anyone who thinks that life will be quiet for me from now on - apart from the Treliske trips - I have decided to write up my family's history for my grandchildren. This I reckon should run into about 3 volumes so a Trilogy should keep me busy for a while. Sounds a bit mad but how many families sit and talk about their lives these days - I only wish I has listened more..

My best wishes to Catherine for the future.

CHURCH FETE

A big THANK YOU to everyone, young and old for helping to make our Fete such a great success, raising the record amount of over £1,000. This year the weather was kind to us, so we were able to have the outdoor games, which this year included Pony Rides, also our Silver Band were able to give us their delightful music of their usual high standard the whole of the afternoon under their conductor Micky Hunt which was enjoyed by all.
A special thanks to Mrs. Helme, the Headmistress of our school who kindly opened the Fete, also the Ladies who worked so hard on the day and many months before in preparing their stalls, the Choir Girls and Boys who did extremely well with their Raffles and Treasure Hunt. We were disappointed we had no entries for the Fancy Dress, perhaps next year we shall have some but our thanks to Mr. Alford who kindly came along to act as the Judge and to Mrs. McShee and Mrs. Greenaway for their help.
Mrs. Shirley McLeod was the winner of the first Prize in Grand Draw, which she very kindly gave back to the Church. Many thanks Shirley.
Once again our Thanks to everyone who came and supported us because without you we could not keep our lovely Church open.

A BEQUEST TO THE CHURCHYARD FUND

I would like to inform our Parishioners of the very generous bequest of £1,000 to our Churchyard Fund by the late Mr. Richard (Dick) Harris. We would like to thank his widow Ivy for his generosity.

During the absence of the Vicar, who has been conducting a Retreat and having a holiday we are most grateful to the Rev. Michael Browning for conducting our Services on Sundays and Thursdays.

Mid Cornwall Branch Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Sunday July 19th proved to be an unlucky day again weatherwise for our Pint & Pasty gathering at Blisland but the kindness of the landlord of the Royal Oak ensured nearly everybody could eat their pasty in comfort & enjoy a good old chit chat. Better luck next time, we hope.

Our Door-to-Door collection this year raised £60.89 in Blisland and thanks to Annette & Alexis £88.95 in St Breward. Thank you everybody.

On August 8th we had a Coffee Morning with various stalls in the Church Institute. What a marvellous selection of goodies we had given to us from a Radiogram to hairslides, plus a tableful of mouthwatering cakes. All helping to swell the funds to £200 this year.

Our thanks to all the people who helped, contributed and came to support us.

The winning raffle numbers were drawn by Mrs Whitbread a visitor to our village. 1st Prize Beef Dinner. No 41 Winner T.Walmsley, Tintagel. 2nd Prize S.Dungey, No 88 Camelford & 3rd Prize No 162 F.Harper, Blisland.

BLISLAND FUN DAY.

On the 4th July we had a very enjoyable Fun Day on the Village Green. The afternoon was races for the children. Mr Henry Franklin kindly donated 2 shields, a presentation pen and trophy. The shields were given to the girl and boy who won the most races. These were Rebecca Moon and Gavin Larsen.

The pen was given to David Greenaway for being the fastest person in the village on the last race around the Green. The Trophy has been given to the Ladies Tug-of-War team.

The races were followed by a Tug-of-war, a Ram Roast and Barebque. In the evening there was live music in the Pub and a Disco on the back of a lorry on the Green for the youngsters. It was a lovely day and I think everyone enjoyed themselves. The money raised has been donated to local charities, Blisland School & Blisland Tug-of-war Team. Thanks to everyone who suppoted us, and we hope to do a similar thing again next year. SG.

LAVETHAN MILL & OTHER MILLS OF BLISLAND.

In olden days, when the land was divided into manors the mill was very important in the lives of the people. Corn was ground for flour, barley for ale and orchards abounded for cider - no cuppa's in those days.

The mill for the Manor of Trehudreth, at Waterloo, is still inexistence with some of the old machinery such as the wheels made of wood with wooden gogs.

The mill for the Manor of Cassacawn was in The Ham where the site of the mill wheel can still be seen. Sir John Maclean describes how the rent was paid for Cassacawn Mill, not only in money but also in goods and service. Once rented by William & Catherine Toser and living with them was Catherines son by her first husband, Thomas Cock. The rent was 17 shillings a year, one days work in the autumn and a capon once a year. They also had to pay a tax called 'Heriot', a fine due to the Lord of the Manor on the death of the tenant or when the land changed hands. This tax was usually th e best beast or some valuable piece of property such as jewels. No doubt similar rules applied to the Queen's Mill.

Lavethan Mill or the Queen's Mill as it was generally called was the mill for the Manor of Blisland. It was named after Elizabeth 1 in whose reign the Manor of Blisland consisted of the Farmers House - now called The Mansion House - seven acres of land, certain out-moors and two acres of wood in Penrose from which tenants were entitled to get wood. The seven acres lay between Atwell(where is it?) in the east and Tregenna in the west.

In 1538 the mill was held by an old blind man named Stephen Kittow who could not pay his rent - John Kempe of Lavethan became the tenant, at a rent of £4 a year. He was permitted to grind his corn free because the water of the mill flowed through his land. The mill passed down father to son in the Kempe family, John to William, William to Thomas, then to Humphrey in 1588 - the year of the Spanish Armada - when no doubt bonfires were lit on the Beacon to warn that the Spanish Fleet was sailing up the Channel and when Sir Francis Drake played the famous game of bowls on Plymouth Hoe.

Abeautiful slate memorial is in Blisland Church in memory of Humphrey Kempe, his wife Joan and their children, two sons and two daughters.

At the end of her reign Queen Elizabeth sold the Farmers House and in 1602 it was bought by the Kempes but they did not hold it for long owing to money difficulties.

In the 19th Century the mill was held by the Keats. In the list of parishioners made by Mr Madge the name of Keat was just mentioned in the Blisland Church reg register in 1833. In Kelly's Directories Thomas Keat lived there in 1871 and 1883. William Keat in 1914, Thomas Keat in 1923 and Rodney Keat the present owner is their descendant.

The Thomas Keat of 1371 was also known as 'the Old Russian' due to the fact that he cornered the corn market during the Crimean War - a very astute gentleman.

Lavethan Mill has a dated building, the inscription is on the left hand side of an arch on the outer side of the water mill building and reads HCV 1886. The water mill has been in continuous use for several generations of Keats and is still working.

With the threshing over it was time to take stock of other jobs. The machinery had to be oiled and greased ready to be laid up till next year. Most of the potatoes would have been lifted, any that were still in the ground would now be taken up and stored. Next year's seed would be carefully sorted and laid out on trays for new shoots to be developed We always kept several cats in the barns to keep the rats and mice down; it was maddening to find that something had gnawed the best seed potatoes or got into the grain. Sometimes we had new seed from Scotland and this had to be ordered now. The outhouses also had to be cleaned out and 'stittle' ropes inspected and if any needed replacement a visit was made to Will Crowle at Penpont who made the best ropes available. All this in readiness for the animals to 'lie in' during the winter.

When we kept sows, before the young farrows were allowed the run of the meadow, they had to be ringed. They set up an unearthly squeal as soon as they were caught, which reached a crescendo as the rings were put in their noses; not nice for the pigs, but if not done the ground would be ripped up like the work of small ploughs. Nothing makes a noise "like a pig hanged in a gate".

A necessary remedy I also helped with was drenching yearlings when they developed coughs. A spoonful of turpentine poured down their throats would kill the small worms lodged there and after a lot of spluttering, with their breath blowing blue from their nostrils, they were relieved of this distressing condition. No doubt this would be frowned on today when injections are used for everything, but it did them no harm and it worked and it was surprising how quickly they thrived afterwards.

Most of the old farmers had their own remedies and this was a general topic of conversation at the cattle markets. However, some farmers jealously guarded their special recipes and handed them down to their sons. We had such a one but Wilfie was always generous with it. The old farmers had many simple remedies. I think they probably had more time to stand around and watch their animals and detect things before they developed too far.

Some people believed in charms. We had a cow with ringworms that nothing seemed to cure, then an old man charmed

it. You could see the ringworms disappearing and in no time at all it was back in full milk. As it was a good guernsey cow we were extremely glad of its return to full milk with its high butter fat content. As I have said before farming is never a dull life.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

ST BREWARD.

There was an enthusiatic audience in July for Mrs Woolf from Helleand who talked about 'A Victorian Lady's dressing table". Diving into her boxes, she produced one by one the various objects, useful and decorative, that used to be so customary but are now of historic interest: hat pins, a bead-decorated cushion, a button-hook, glove-stretchers, a fan, dressing table sets of ebony, china, glass and silver and many other things. As she described them and laid them out, they conjored up the very different way of life of women a hundred years ago.

The Speaker at our next meeting, at 7.30pm on Tues. September 15th will be Mrs Julyan, whose subject will be "Repairs and Renovations".

Business discussions covered table tennis, golf lessons St Michaels's Mount study days, fire prevention quiz teams and even a Christmas shopping expedition for the autumn. It was decided to send a plant with our good wishes to Mrs Irene Donald in hospital in Sussex.

Plans were made for the Coffee Evening to be held at Edgehill, Limbhead, the home of our President, Mrs J. Hawken on Friday, September 11th at 7pm. Please come and support this function which is to raise money for the Rehabilitation Unit at Tehidy Hospital.

In The News

One does not associate the national headlines in newspapers and on the media with our own lives, particularly with the hoo-hah of Peter Wright. But it appears that he lived and worked in Blisland out at Newton for a couple of years before the war whilst in his teens, when helping the novelist Margaret Leigh. Those who knew him at that time remember him as a very pleasant person.

Our other more recent claim to fame was when Ted Gundry came from Radio Cornwall and interviewed several people around the village, they did quite well in representing us.

BLISLAND..

Mrs Wendy Gurr, Our President, gave a warm welcome to Mrs George & MrsPringle , newcomers to our village who came along to see what our WI is all about. Apparently Mrs George liked what she saw and became a member so we hope MrsPringlwill follow suit. It is such a good way to meet people & learn something about the place in which you've chosen to live. We will be delighted to see anyone who comes along.

The business of the day included final arrangements for our Produce Show & Mrs Margaret Garvey's report on her trip to London. Maragaret gave a very lively accountof her day & an insight into some of the heated arguments on one or two of the resolutions. All in all the day went well & Margaret thanked us for giving her theopportunity of taking part in a day worth remembering.

Mrs Arundel from Lostwithiel was our Speaker & her subject 'Women & Crime'. We all sat back ready to listen but this was not to be. Mrs Arundel started to throw questions at us re present laws on prison detention, sentences on juveniles, causes of crime & petty theft, etc.etc. Well she certainly got our brains ticking over & very animated discussions took place. Mrs Arundel is a Magistrate & very active in the world of law & order - she certainly placed some interesting facts before us & gave much food for thought..

The time passed very quickly & to get all the Produce Show bits & pieces tied up we had a working tea-break. The timely cups of tea were provided by Mrs Miller & Miss Rowe accompanied with the delicious sandwiches & cakes.

As many of you know the Produce Show was a great success & our profits were certainly an improvement on last year - over £102. A lot of the credit goes to our President who approached local traders for gifts for the raffle & all of them were absolutely marvellous and donated super prizes. Wendy & her daughter also organised the schedules thereby saving quite a lot of money. The entries for the Show were good & each class well supported.

It was nice to see some new names amongst the prize winners & we hope to see more next year. Unfortunately the children's classes were poorly attended but what entries there were , were of a high standard. So come on children buck your ideas up!!

Our next meeting is in September, the third Wednesday & Mrs Marjorie Horton, one of our members is going to show us some of the soft toys she makes & we hope, how to do them. So till then..

Eileen Walford.

BLISLAND PAROCHIAL CHURCH COUNCIL

What a gem the Cornish Churchman is for 60p a year! A couple of years ago we obtained chairs for Temple Church Blisland Village Hall and the Village Institute, all for a very nominal figure.

Now we have an organ to go into Temple Church - needs a little restoration and repairs hopefully for a very nominal sum but the organ itself was a gift from St Keyne.

The diocesan news may also be interesting, the number of flower shows should keep you busy all week plus the choral events but for me its the Miscellaneous section and all those lovely bargains that we can pick up to enhance our buildings. I let my fingers do the walking and everything becomes a tres bon marche. May everyone be a winner!!

COUNTRY FAYRE , PENGELLY.

Mr & Mrs Matthews would like to thank all who turned up and supported their evening - and not a very good one at that, for the weather turned really misty and damp. In spite of that £177 was presented to Helland Chapel and £152.50 to East Cornwall Hospital.

Our thanks to those hardy helpers and the St Breward Silver Band that made it a pleasure to go.

W.R.V..S. MONDAY CLUB REPORT

The Coffee Morning at Mrs Billings on July 14th was a great success, with many members and friends supporting it. We could have wished for better weather but that didn't detract from our enjoyment of a very sociable time and the result was a very substantial addition to our funds. Mrs Billing was heartily thanked by everyone.

On July 20th we were extremely lucky in the weather for our annual visit to the garden at Oakridge. The only fine day of the week, when we were able to follow the Treasure Trail, this year 3rd time lucky! Also to sit in the garden & enjoy the lovely sunshine - really summer. Mrs Miller won the competition 'collection of grasses' and mine was the winner in 'Prettiest brooch' competition. A new member and friends of the club were welcomed, and Isobel again provided a very generous tea, which was appreciated with many thanks, another lovely afternoon.

On August 3rd we welcomed Mr Samuelson to give a talk on Africa.. Hoping to dispel some of the misunderstandings about that country, he spoke in depth about the troubles there, and told us much about the background. This being the accumulation of events over the past 200 years.

Speaking from personal experience of parts of that beautiful country he said it was being torn apart and needed for much to be done if a peaceful existance between Blacks and Whites could ever be achieved. Much interest was aroused & comments made. It would seem that someone of great vision would be needed. Mr Samuelson was thanked for giving up his time to talk to us, and putting the situation in a new light.

The competition 'Holiday Post Card' was won by Mrs Billing. Final arrangements were made for the outing to Hayle Paradise Park on 10th Aug. Gwen Masters.
