New Churchwarden Mr D.D. Kirby

Holy Baptism Blisland Church was full on Sunday 6th October for the baptism of Joseph David Cornelius, the son of David and Anita. The Revd. Conrad Sargisson officiated.

Harvest Festival The sale of Harvest Festival produce raised £128.40. This was donated to The Home Farm trust and Childrens Aid (A charity specialising in providing help for children in Bosnia and other troubled places in Europe).

Tony Wilcox was in fine form and kept the bidders amused, and the money coming in! Our thanks to all who generously gave the produce; those who decorated the church so beautifully; those who came on the evening to support the sale and the ladies who, as always, provided an excelled post auction supper.

A letter from our new Vicar

Lavethan
Blisland

Dear Friends,

What a splendid night we had at Blisland on All Hallow's Eve! Of course, I refer, not to the secular and pagan activities that surround that evening these days, but to the Licensing of your new Priest-in-Charge of Blisland and St. Breward.

It was a moving ceremony, and for me a humbling one, an act of worship to emphasise my responsibility, and yours, while the feast in the Village Hall to celebrate the occasion surpassed all anticipation. My sincere thanks, and those of my friends, to everyone from both parishes involved - from making the detailed preparations beforehand - to finishing the washing up afterwards. Thank you, one and all!

I feel that the licensing for my ministry in the parishes could not have come at a better time of year, because we are at the threshold of Advent, the beginning of another year in our lives in our church. This is a time when we think about the coming of our Blessed Lord and how God prepared for it, preparing the way of the prophets, through John the Baptist, and through the message of the Angel to the Blessed Virgin Mary, and it is a time to ponder over His Second Coming. Advent is our "getting ready" season, when we prepare to celebrate Christmas as the birthday of Jesus, and for all the other fasts and festivals in the course of the year.

May I wish you a prayerful Advent, and a Blessed and peaceful Christmas.

Yours very sincerely,

R. David Reed

Harvest Festival

Thank you to everyone who came and made the weekend a success. Thanks to Mr Hoskin, the auctioneer at the sale, ably assisted by Kelvin, Susan, Rebecca and Zoë, and "The Ladies" for the wonderful supper.

Best Wishes for Christmas and Good Wishes for 1997. Thank you all for the wonderful support to the Methodist Church during 1996.

Metal Foil Collection

First of all a big thank you to everyone who brought bags of metal foil to our house this summer. It was a very full car load to take to Ann Greenwood at Nanstallon for 'Dogs for the Disabled'. Any bag, no matter how small, of washed bottle tops, pie cases etc is welcome.

A letter from Brian Parkman. Pastoral Worker in the Camelford Section of the North Cornwall Circuit of the Methodist Church.

Another year almost gone; but where has it gone?

Many different people have used various phrases to remind us of the unavoidable passing of TIME. Time and tide waits for no man, said one. Solomon of old, very wisely said; "Everything that happens in this world, happens at the time God chooses".

The first statement is easier to accept than the second, unless of course, the past year has been a good year for you. During my short time of ministry among you, I have been made aware of many differing facets of life. Joy, as I shared in a wedding service; sadness in bereavement; questioning at sickness; happiness at a baptism, and so I could go on. It is good to reflect on the past, especially in the light of Solomon's statement regarding God's timing in life. But time and tide waits for no one and so we must move on, looking forward to the unknown time ahead. Unknown to us that is, for according to Solomon, God knows our time ahead and has a plan for each one of us.

From my own experience, I know that giving myself over into the plan of God, gives me confidence and peace for the future. Experience has taught me, through reflecting on the past, that God is my refuge and strength, and so I need not be afraid. I continue to pray that you and I may know God's peace and joy in all circumstances of life. Through sharing together in worship and work, we can encourage each other as we share our joys and disappointments.

Thank you to all who have so generously shared warm clothing with the refugees of Kosovo in Southern Serbia. Your joy in giving will be their joy in receiving.

As we approach the season of Advent, may I remind you of the words of Jesus the Saviour (John 10v 10) "I have come that they might have life and have it to the full". May God help us to experience such a life.

Wishing you God's blessing in the future.....Brian

Editorial ?

With the job of editor, I inherited an almost complete set of back copies of the magazine. I decided that if I was going to carry on the excellent work done by Cathy McShee, I needed to read through them to see what had gone before. I found them extremely interesting and noted several baptisms of people who I regularly see and are no longer tiny babies! I learned that I am the 4th editor of the magazine and that the 3 previous editors were female! More importantly I discovered that Cathy has been editing the magazine for some 9 years and that Mrs Walford has been treasurer for even longer. On your behalf, I would like to thank both of them for all the work and effort they have put into our magazine.

In recognition of all the hard work they have done for the parish magazine, some readers have suggested we give them a small memento. Any contributions should be handed to me, our new treasurer Mike Ward-Lee or to your distributor.

What made the back issues so interesting were the multifarious articles from a host of villagers. A regular plea from the earliest editions was for more of these articles and stories, whether they be anecdotes or parish history, cartoons or whatever. Our parish magazine is only as good as the contributions that you, the reader send in. So please do not hesitate to send in anything for inclusion, because after all this is your magazine. Another recurring problem is finance. The magazine runs on a shoestring, so any ideas or help towards fund raising will be greatly received. I look forward to future issues

Blisland with Temple & St Breward Parish Magazine

Dear Readers,

As I am coming to the end of my position as treasurer of the above magazine, there are just one or two remarks I would like to make. First of all, I thank our editor, Mrs Catherine McShee for the hard work she has put into the editing of the magazine to make it as interesting as possible, especially in the latter years when family illness has taken up so much of her time. I also thank all the distributors who have circulated the book and collected the money for same each year. They have made my task so much easier.

We are fortunate that Mr Mike Ward - Lee has agreed to take over the book-keeping. It will be in good hands especially as Mr Ward - Lee has audited my books over the last few years, so he knows what its all about.

I wish the new editor and treasurer all the very best for the future of the magazine. To the readers I would just like to thank you for your support and hope this continues over many years. Keep the articles coming in for it is your contributions which help to make the magazine a pleasure to read.

A very happy Christmas and Prosperous New Year to you all.

Eileen Walford

Bill Smith & Family would like to express their sincere gratitude to all those who have sent their expressions of sympathy and offers of help if required, following the sad death of Dilys on Wednesday 6th November

We would like to especially thank all those who attended the service at Bodmin Crematorium on Tuesday 12th, particularly to the Rev. David Reed, a newcomer to our village, who officiated at the service and spoke of Dilys as though he had known her for many years, and made many relatives and friends attending, far less sad than they might otherwise have been.

Memories of Penvorda Cottages By Trevor Ternouth

I, like my mother Edna Ternouth, was born at 10 Penvorda Cottages - almost 21 years apart! The infamous Nurse Crahart was in attendance - some would say I was lucky to survive that ordeal!! But survive I did., to spend an idyllic childhood, surrounded by what seemed to be very nice Cornish folk. Most of the menfolk were employed at De Lank quarry - I grew up when most men were employed - and most women were housewives! How times have changed.

My childhood years almost echoed Edna's. Great mates to play football and cricket with, in the appropriate season of course! Chapel and Sunday School at De Lank. Taking freshly baked pasties out to my Dad, Gordon, at De lank Quarry. Trying to get there on time!!

In N°1 Penvorda Cottages lived "BRI" Moore and his wife. Mr Moore, known as Squeaker because of his very high pitched voice was, of course, much mocked - behind his back - by us boys! Later N°1 was occupied by Jim & Maggie Culley, Jim being a stalwart of De Lank chapel. N°2 - Charlie and Mrs Clarke with their son Graham - one of our playmates - When young, he was - as we Cornish say - of 'STUGGY' build, and tired quite quickly when he had to run behind the goal for the ball. His reddened face lives in my memory, as he, being the youngest ALWAYS had to get the wayward ball, whether it be cricket or football! Many years later we met on the cricket field proper - He being a very good spin bowler, playing for Newquay and me batting for St Austell. We spent a very pleasant time in the pavilion after the match, recalling school days.
N°3, in my young days, still housed the Methven family. 'Auntie' Margaret, 'Uncle' Ted, David and Jean. David, another mate of my formative years! Graham, Dave and I joined the Band around the same time. They were both better players than me - I just loved the uniform! Trouble was, it was about third hand and two sizes too big. So as well as being an ordinary cornet player, I didn't look too smart either!

In N°4 was Mr and Mrs Tom Winn - Tom was one of my grandad's generation - I can just remember him coming home from the quarry each evening - three or four men walking home together - always the same men kept together. We boys would say "Hello" to which Tom would reply "MILD"! - Whatever the weather!

N°5 was Mr and Mrs Martin, both Eric and Max left home when I was very young. The Martins had a very strange accent. They came, I believe, from down Camborne way! Another world to us in the 1940's. I always remember Mr Martin was a much respected member of De Lank Quarries, him being a clever engineer.

N°6 Penvorda! How all we youngsters remembered that house. A truly smashing man, Len Rich, who often took David and I to football matches when he was refereeing them, residing there with his wife Vi. We were all terrified of her. You see her house was adjacent to 'Middles', an area between the two rows of houses - in the mid Forties it was cleared of a mound of earth and made a lovely sports area! Consequently, ball after ball would end up in her and Len's carefully tended garden. The had no children, but Vi had more balls than Bricknells toy shop! Perhaps she was a closet juggler? We would never dare ask for our wayward ball. One look from her, I swear would kill at a hundred yards.

At N°7 lived Mrs Hawken, Mary Nottle and her boys Brian, Derek and Kenny - Brian joined St Breward Band long before we did - he was quite a bit older than Dave, Graham and I. He was very good - a cornet player. Derek of course became one of St Breward's best ever footballers (still living at Rostalick) and Kenny - he was a couple of years my junior - but we spent hours together playing a specially devised cricket game for two - in 'The Backs' of Penvorda.

At N°8 was Mrs Colman - my mate Garnet's granny. She spent hours baby sitting me when mum was out singing. As I remember, a lovely little lady - she'd let me stay up late! I also remember her other children, just, living at home. Edwin, Mildred and Violet (Wheezy) Colman. Later, Larry and Betty Champion, with their two children lived at N°8.

At N°9 were Sammy and Mrs Metters - they were our immediate neighbours - I remember they had television at a very early stage and I used to go in and watch it - a rare treat! I always thought Mrs Metters was quite refined!

We lived at N°10. Mum , Grandad, Josie and her sister (our wartime evacuees) and me! No Dad, he, for the first four or five years of my life was in the army. In fact, I was more familiar with dad's brothers-in-law, Les Brown and Archie Rowe, as they must have come home earlier than dad - so I naturally associated khaki with 'Uncle'. Consequently when dad arrived home from the fighting I addressed him as - you've guessed it, "UNCLE"! I have been told, quite often, he was not best pleased, although, I hasten to add, we ended up very good mates.

A Man Looks Back By Roy Castle

I always cleaned the children's shoes
The little (tiny) patent shoes
That covered feet fresh out of booties
Cleaned the black and made it shine
Removing final traces of stewed prune
And other culinary delights - known only to the very young.

And as they grew I cleaned a larger shoe
Shoes that were strong enough to walk in (Almost)
Certainly strong enough for a toddler to take five steps..... and fall.

And then those first school shoes
Shoes that led such little feet
Into a world full of such tomorrows.

And later shoes, the toes of which
Lost all their battles with football, gravel, and old tin cans -
New shoes, that looked old within a week
..... I cleaned them all.

And as each night I did the task
A million memories came flooding back
And I remembered a man long gone
Would clean our shoes.
Six children in all - my father cleaned each one
- as now I shine these for mine.

But children grow
And shoes are for feet that move -
That take the boy into a man
And I remember well, the evening that I came
With cloth and brush
As I had done so many times -
Only to discover that of course the shoes had gone.

But that will come again - oh not for cleaning now -
Other hands have long since done that task
No, they will bring a man to me, and a woman
Holding the hands of tiny ones -
With little feet.

And young eyes will look up and say
"Granpa - Mummy said ..... that you will clean my shoes"

St. Breward WI October Meeting

In the absence of our chairman, Mrs. J Sainsbury (vice-chairman) took the chair. Unfortunately only 16 members were present. After the successful outing to Kernow Mill it was decided to ask any member booking for an event by bus to pay £1 at the time of booking. Nominations were sought for the NFWI Executive. A difficult decision as candidates are not as familiar as those for the CFWI Executive, many of whom we know from visits to our institute, or are active in the County.

The 'Home and Country' magazine has been "completely revamped and editorially improved over the last year", according to WI News. It is only 85p per copy, so maybe we should give it a second opinion!

Our speaker was Mr G Millat from the Cornwall Health Care Trust Chiropody Department, who took the unusual approach of asking members to outline each others feet, then compared these drawings with shoes that each member was wearing. Evidently the comments were quite surprising! But unfortunately, he did not have a satisfactory solution for athletes foot - except to start afresh with all new footwear, so it seems that it is with us for good, which will please the makers of Mycil Powder at any rate.
(I didn't realise there were so many athletes in the WI! Ed)

The competition for a pair of baby bootees was won by a new member, Mrs J Chance. Mrs R Lowe presented the best Autumn tints in a jug. The writing competition was won by Mrs R Cousens.

November Meeting

The cold winter evening in the Memorial Hall was transformed into a Cornish Spring with the colourful slides presented by Fowey garden historian Mrs Campbell-Culver. She spoke with great enthusiasm about many of our great houses and of the secrets revealed by perusing old documents and plans. Roll on spring with its magnolias, camellias and azaleas.

Our institute's resolution presented by Mrs C Wolfe at the Autumn Council was passed unanimously, in spite of "large guns" being flown down by Orange to speak in opposition - they met their match in Christine! Our program gained 17 out of 20 points for its content and neatness, but in future our Christian names will be added. Quite a difference from the days when everyone had to be called "Mrs" at a meeting, although I must confess I frequently forgot this rule.

The laying of the foundation stone for the Mermaid Appeal Cancer Building was attended by our local co-ordinator, Mrs G Champion, who was heartily thanked for all the effort that she and Dennis have already put into fund-raising during the last 18 months.

A questionnaire from CFWI regarding the opportunity for more education in the WI brought forth a wide variety of courses that members are already attending, or have done so within the last 2 years. These included computer courses, creative writing, art classes and various four-corner days, at Duchy college and at Probus. It was felt that we already had enough opportunities and that we are, on the whole, taking advantage of them. Following on this theme, there will be a Cornish weekend at Denman College from August 18th to 21st at a cost of £220, with a bus from Penzance collecting on the way.

Those present decided that they would like to have our New Year lunch at Trelawney as usual, purely as a social occasion.. This will be on January 8th, while the sales are on by popular request! Looking much further ahead, it will be St Brewards' seventieth anniversary in 1998 and at the moment the idea is that we have a weekend on the Scillies.

The calendar and diaries are now with the treasurer for collection. Mrs J Cheeseman brought up the problem of genetically engineered soya contained in numerous products and not made clear on the packaging notes. The competition for a piece of commemorative china was won by Mrs J Teague with a plate produced by Wenford Pottery for the Football Club, and Mrs P Metters showed the best flower. The June writing competition for a limerick about Tessa was won by Mrs R Lowe.

On December 10th Mr Lawson will talk about Birds of the Camel Estuary, which is a nationally known area for bird-watches. As it is likely to be a dull December evening, make it a bright one by hearing about our lovely Camel Estuary.

Anne Holmes

St Breward Mini-Bus Committee are urgently looking for someone, with access to a computer and a printer and with some knowledge of accounts to be treasurer. This would take approximately one hour per week. Please contact Linda Belcher (Chairman) 851121 or Denise Yeo (Bookings Secretary) 851249

It would be a crying shame if St Breward was to lose its mini bus through lack of interest. We have already lost the St Breward School run! {DPL}

Blisland WI

Our Meeting on the 16th October was held at the Mansion House by kind invitation of Mrs Ward - Lee. We were entertained to a delicious tea and a most interesting and informative talk on Antiques to be found on a Victorian lady's dressing table. We were shown some really beautiful perfume bottles with silver tops and cut glass, Rose-water bottles, glove boxes, powder pots, visiting card cases, all of intricate workmanship. We also saw some lovely jewellery and were given a tip on how to differentiate between real and cultured pearls - apparently you have to bite them. The real ones are smooth whilst the cultured ones have a slightly gritty feel. We would all like to thank her for her hospitality

The Launceston trip was most enjoyable and we spent the morning walking around the town with the Town Archivist, who explained some of the history and pointed out the many historic buildings. He was proud of the fact that Launceston is still the County Town, despite the claims of Truro! The afternoon was occupied with a visit to Launceston Museum, where the curator gave us a tour, describing the exhibits and explaining some of the work done by the museum.

The tea party on the 12th of October was a success and we made a good profit.

Plans are being made for a 50th Anniversary celebration. We hope to arrange a dinner on the 22nd January and we hope that past and present members will be able to attend.

One of our New Zealand WI correspondents visited Blisland recently. Unfortunately, she was not here long enough to attend a meeting but enjoyed her visit and spent time with Mrs Gurr and Mrs Bulbeck. Each month they send us a copy of their 'Home and Country' . It is very different from our magazine although the photographs of the ladies are very similar to ours. A verse I noticed seemed rather appropriate to the situation in Blisland and probably most other WI's.

> When you have selected a committee
> From those who are willing to stand
> Don't criticise everything they do, but give a helping hand
> They have tried their best for each and everyone
> Don't whinge with all the rest, come up and say, 'Well done'

The December meeting will be on 11th ie 2nd Wednesday. Mr Kendle will demonstrate Candle-making for Christmas.
